REMODELLING SCOTLAND
www.six-cities.com

In association with the Design Transformation Group

Here's a giant map. Here's half a tonne of plasticine. Here's the chance to remodel your city, just the way you like it.

The Design Transformation Group present their award-winning Claystation, inviting people of all ages to redesign their cities for fun and debate. On scale maps of Scotland's six cities, architects, would-be planners, citizens, visitors and mavericks alike can indulge in the creation of new cityscapes – by collaboratively remodelling their cities for the 21st century.

The event aims to raise awareness of the built environment, encouraging those who live and work in our cities not merely to take a closer look at the buildings and spaces around them, but to engage in rethinking them.
